Autobiography in Historical Perspective Whereas its origins ultimately date back to antiquity (Roesler 2005), with Augustine's Confessions([398–98] 1961) as a prominent ancient landmark, the history of autobiography as a (factual) literary genre and critical term is a much shorter one.

Autobiography | the living handbook of narratology

This book traces the emergence of the concept of self-identity in modern Western culture, as it was both reflected in and advanced by the development of autobiographical practice in early modern England. It offers a fresh and illuminating appraisal of the nature of autobiographical narrative in general and of the early modern forms of biography, diary and autobiography in particular.
