The short story, says Pulitzer Prize-winning writer Steven Millhauser, has powers the novel only dreams of. 'The novel is the Wal-Mart, the Incredible Hulk, the jumbo jet of literature,' he wrote in his brilliant essay, The Ambition of the Short Story. '[And yet] the short story apologises for nothing. It exults in its shortness.'

5. Readers Read to Be Entertained. Yes, people still read to be entertained! I know it to be true. People read because they find it fun, interesting, and relaxing. For these people, the problem arises when reading becomes work. That is, when they have to labor through language or create flow charts to figure out what's going on.
